Gator on the go news!

MESSAGE FROM THE COMMANDING OFFICER

Gator Families,

As the pages fly-off the desk calendar and we near the end of the year, I wanted to take a moment to say thank you for all you do in support of the Marines and Sailors who make this battalion great. Every day, I'm immensely proud of this battalion and all it has accomplished. So, I also wanted to take this opportunity to share some of our accomplishments that you should be proud of as well...because you are such a very important part of our success.

Since the last newsletter, we conducted our Battalion Field Exercise 12-2 where Charlie Company earned the coveted GATORPALOOZA Commander's Cup Trophy. This was followed by our battalion's participation in the First Marine Expeditionary Brigade's exercise PACIFIC HORIZON. Meanwhile, we welcomed Fox Company home from Okinawa Japan as we sent Alpha Company forward to support our country's continued "Strategic Re-alignment:" to the Pacific. Marines from Delta and H&S Companies completed their training and deployed forward to Afghanistan to support Operation Enduring Freedom. Just as the dust was settling from unit rotations and our new battalion staff members were settling into their new positions, the 1st Marine Division conducted a Commanding General's Inspection of our battalion.

I'm compelled to tell you that in all events, to include the Commanding General's Inspection, 3d AABn Marines and Sailors continue to lead the way and set the standard across the 1st Marine Division. I'm convinced we are the most prepared and most capable battalion in the Division....among the finest in the Marine Corps due to the professionalism, dedications and pride exhibited by your Marines and Sailors. I'm also compelled to tell you that this dedication and pride is matched only by that of our families.

As we recently celebrated the Marine Corps Birthday, it hit me that we have been successful as a Corps of Marines because it truly is a family. When an individual celebrates a birthday, they surround themselves by family and friends while they take stock in how far they have come and chart a course toward the future realizing that their success is due to the family and friends present. We do exactly the same thin at the Marine Corps Birthday. We didn't join the Marine Corps....we BECAME Marines and Sailors supporting the Fleet marine Force. We became part of a greater whole... a team... a family. For 237 years, this has been the source of our success and this will continue to be our source of strength well in to the future. I want to sincerely than you for being part of the Marine Corps Family and the Third Tracks Family.

On behalf of my wife, MJ Hall (Lipstick-6), and the entire battalion, please accept our wishes for a Merry Christmas and a happy and prosperous New Year!

LtCol Howard "Chip" Hall

In 1993, he was accepted to the Marine Enlisted Commissioning Education Program and attended the University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign, and graduated in 1997. After attending The Basic School, he reported to Assault Amphibian Officers course in Camp Pendleton California then transferred to 2d Assault Amphibian Battalion, Camp Lejeune and served as an Amphibious Assault Vehicle platoon commander. In July of 2000, he deployed as the AAV platoon commander with Battalion Landing Team 2/2, 26th Marine Expeditionary Unit (SOC) upon his return was reassigned as the Executive Officer, Company A, 2d Assault Amphibian Battalion.

In May of 2001, he transferred to the United States Naval Academy to attend the Leadership and Education Development program, after completing the program he served as Plebe Summer Company Officer, 14th Company Officer, Leatherneck Platoon Commander, and academic instructor as well as a member of the Marine Corps Officer Selection board from June 2002 till June 2004.

In September 2004 he assumed command of Company B, 2d Assault Amphibian Battalion and deployed in March of 2005 in support of Operation Iraqi Freedom 04-06 supporting Regimental Combat Team 8. In November of 2005 he assumed command of Company D, 2d Assault Amphibian Battalion and deployed in March 2006 in support of Operation Iraqi Freedom 05-07 supporting Regimental Combat Team 5.

In November 2006 he assumed the duties as Operations Officer, Program Manager, Advanced Amphibious Assault Program office until his attendance at the Marine Corps Command and Staff College in June 2010. In August 2011 he deployed in support of Operation Enduring Freedom as the Regimental Combat Team 5, Afghan National Security Force Cell Leader. In September 2012 he assumed his current duties as Executive Officer, 3d Assault Amphibian Battalion.

Major O'Brien was promoted to his present grade on the 1st of July 2007, and holds a Bachelors of Science degree in Agriculture from the University of Illinois and a Masters of Science degree in Leadership and Human Resource Development from the Naval Postgraduate School and a Masters of Military Studies from the Marine Corps University.

Sergeant Major

Hello Family and Friends,

I want to personally thank you for the unwavering support that you provide to your Marines and Sailors each and every day. As you know they have been extremely busy with deployment preparation, (in the case of Alpha Company and Task Force Gator) operations aboard naval shipping, field exercises, several static displays and community relation events (i.e. Miramar Air show, Anaheim Prayer breakfast, Birthday Pageant and Assistant SECDEF visit). No matter the task they have performed superbly. We would not be able to do what it is that we do without your strong family support --- thanks again.

Always faithful,
Cliff Wiggins

3dAABn Families,

Since I was deployed last year I'm really looking forward to enjoying Christmas with my family this upcoming season. I know many of you are presently separated from your loved ones and this time of year can be difficult. I hope you can enjoy your relationship from afar and even make the time memorable with some new traditions of your own.

Many of our routine traditions have come from all over the world. Eating turkey reminds us of the European settlers and their relationship with the Native Americans. Most of us have a Christmas tree. The evergreen is a symbol of life and eternity and the tradition we share is probably from a 16th century German custom. Many Catholic families practice a Christmas meal after midnight Mass which is an older tradition among the French. The Irish gave us the custom of placing lighted candles in the window during Christmas season. It originated in times when their religion was suppressed and priests were forced into hiding. Families put a burning candle in their window and left their doors unlatched, hoping that a priest might come to their door and celebrate the Christmas Mass with them. Even Dr. Seuss has left his mark with his 1957 publication, How the Grinch Stole Christmas.

This brings me to the main question. What are you introducing to your family that will become a cherished tradition? Now, while separated from your loved one, is an ideal time to start your own long standing custom. If you have the privilege to enjoy the company of your Marine or Sailor plan to do something special in place of the missed holiday. There are many great ideas available, but whatever you do make a record of it. Take pictures or keep a journal, something that will allow you to share it again next year. You may miss your loved ones during this season, but them knowing you are enjoying the holiday encourages them to do the same.

Merry Christmas,
Chaplain Carl Stamper

H&S Company

Marines, Sailors and Families of H&S Company,

Since the last newsletter, H&S has been hard at work supporting the Battalion, Division and MEF. With such a diverse company, and so many unique assets, H&S has often been called upon to accomplish short notice, unusual, and challenging tasks. In every instance our Marines and Families have provided excellent support and a dedication to mission accomplishment that has been noticed throughout the Battalion. The Company is on strong footing because of the hard work that goes on every day, and the dedicated support we enjoy at home.

Marines, Sailors and families from the Company have reached out to the community through volunteering and company events. The company had a significant contingent participate in the Westminster, California Relay for Life, and through their hard work we were able to log over 400 miles to support cancer survivors and a search for the cure. Marines from the company have been involved in funeral detachments, color guards, and support to the Miramar Air Show, providing great service and help to the surrounding community.

As a company, we've enjoyed a great family fun run event, and over 200 Marines and families were able to join us for a 2.5 mile run through the Del Mar Area and a well deserved BBQ on the beach. There were prizes for the fastest Marine, couple and family, and it was impressive to see a lot of fast times. I'd like to thank our FRAs and all of the Marines who helped make the event such a success and I look forward to similar successes in the future.

Coming up the Company will participate in Battalion family events, most notably Trunk or Treat and the Marine Corps Ball. I am looking forward to seeing some excellent costumes and joining with the H&S family as we celebrate another year in our beloved Corps.

If you have any questions, please contact our excellent FRAs. They have been working hard to help the Company better support our dedicated families and Marines. We are always looking for new events, ideas and input to help the Company better support our excellent Marines and Families.

Thank you again for your support.

Semper Fidelis,

1stLt Gaines

Alpha Company

Hello Friends and Family,

As many of you know, the bulk of the Company arrived safely in Okinawa, Japan and began training last month. We have been very busy preparing for upcoming operations, and have already supported several events working with our infantry brethren as well as our Japanese and Filipino counterparts in the region. So far it has been a challenge, but an overall great experience for everyone.

Our MEU platoons are also working very hard. Our 15th MEU platoon began its deployment last month after embarking on the USS Green Bay and steaming towards Hawaii and East Timor. The Marines have kept busy on ship preparing mentally and physically for anything that comes their way. Back in Camp Pendleton, our 31st MEU platoon continues to train hard in preparation for their eventual deployment as well. Most recently, this platoon completed a month long training session in Twenty-nine Palms and a weeklong raid package supporting 1st Battalion, 5th Marines. One thing is for certain - we are all very busy!

I want to take this opportunity to once again thank you all for your continued support. Your Marines are working hard every day and our operational temp does not look like it will slow down. Being away from home and separated from one another is hard on us all, but I want you all to know that the love, encouragement, and support you send from the home front keeps us going every day. We can't thank you enough!

In closing, please stay strong with us through the Holidays and know that we appreciate your sacrifices as much as you appreciate ours. We truly are a family that I, for one, am proud to be a part of.

Semper Fidelis,
Todd Forsman
Capt/USMC

Bravo Company

Greetings Bravo Company Family,

As Bravo Company prepares for our upcoming deployment in support of the Unit Deployment Program (UDP) to Okinawa, Japan in the summer of 2013, we have been busily reorganizing the company to prepare for this mission. We have grown as a company by adding new Marines and accepting others from the adjacent companies to include their families and significant others. During this period we have also shown our ability to continue to provide forces and operate within our profession of arms through our ability to support both 1st Marine Expeditionary Brigade (1st MEB) and the 1st Marine Division (1st MARDIV) taskings. In the coming months, the Marines and Sailors will be challenged with many training and field exercises to ensure the highest levels of proficiency and capability of the individual are trained to standard in order to prepare them for any contingency and/or operation. We will continue to ensure that the Marines and Sailors are well trained and the most prepared to so that no one can say that their sons was not prepared.

While training is a necessity to ensure that the unit has the skills to operate as Amtrackers, personal and professional development is fundamental to ensuring that our Marines and Sailors also have the character and resolve to stand up for what is right and the courage to make a difference. Incorporated into training evolutions in the field are opportunities for our Staff Non-Commissioned Officers (SNCOs) and Non-Commissioned Officers (NCOs) to train, educate, and lead their peers and subordinates. I see this training and development with equal importance to our tradecraft as "Soldiers from the sea..." so that Marines and Sailors continue to represent the very best this nation has to offer. Respecting the chain of command is an expectation that many know, but ensuring that those responsible equally respect down the ranks is an integral part of leadership and the foundation for unity and cohesion.

Finally, I would like to take a moment to remind families that Mrs. Rocio Quesada is the Family Readiness Assistant (FRA) for this company. We still need your support and assistance at the platoon level. Our overall numbers are anticipated to nearly double within three months and having representatives at the platoons would be a great benefit for this command and the Company FRA. I ask that you inquire with her if you have any questions or if you would like to become a involved in the company's family network. She will be one of your primary resources for news within the company and this battalion for all events and activities related to family health and readiness.

I hope that this newsletter is both informative and helpful. I also remind readers that there is a Battalion Website that affords additional information regarding this battalion as well as human interest stories on the Marines. Please take some time to become familiar with the resources available in this digital age. It is my privilege and honor to be a steward of our most precious national treasure, your sons. Know that I will not squander this resource but also understand that I will challenge them through personal accountability and professional integrity to ensure our national security interests and our reputation as a Marine Corps is second to none.

Respectfully,
Capt John S. Kim

Charlie Company

To the Families and Friends of Charlie Company

To start out, I would like to introduce myself as Charlie Company's new Company Commander. I am Capt Matt W. Hohl and this will be my second tour here at 3d Assault Amphibian Battalion. I am excited to return to the "3d Tracks Family." Along with my arrival is also the arrival of 1stSgt Marcus N. Fleming, his wife Rebecca, and their family. Charlie Company has a strong tradition of success and we look forward to continue on as part of the team.

Since the last news letter came out, Charlie Company has completed a challenging deployment to Afghanistan with Combat Logistics Battalion-1 and a subsequent training exercise in support of Battalion 5th Marines in Bridgeport, California. On both counts, Charlie Company delivered on all expectations with fortitude and the exceptional work ethic expected of professional warriors. Charlie Company also took home the coveted "3d Tracks Commander's Cup" from GATOR PALOOZA 2-12 for overall total domination of the competition. Your Marines have also conducted successful field operations over that past few months that included mechanized driving as well as waterborne operations. They have also been pouring through and fixing the Company AAVs on the Bn Ramp trying to ensure they are mechanically ready to conduct the gamut of operations the company will conduct. All of these things are possible because of your Marines hard work and through your dedication and support. Myself and the staff thank you.

Due to the nature of our mission in Afghanistan we have been away from our amphibious fundamentals for a considerable time. We must return to our craft and exercise our occupational competency. As a result of a significant manpower shift, Charlie Company is currently building a team that will be able to support future Marine Expeditionary Units and the Unit Deployment Program. My intent with the company is to keep the Marines engaged on and off duty by conducting challenging physical conditioning and returning to our amphibious roots through training exercises, professional military education, and getting involved with the families by personally being available to any Marine or Spouse. More events similar to the C Co Meet and Greet and the Bn Trunk-or-Treat are being planned for and we are always looking for good ideas and recommendations from the families. Volunteerism is always greatly appreciated and the Co Family Readiness Assistants (FRAs), Sarah Phillips and Cammie Carretero, are always looking for you to join them in preparing for these events or becoming a FRA.

We will accomplish any and all missions assigned. We will hone our skills by training hard, but I want you to know that we will also focus on the personal readiness of our Marines. We will accomplish this by ensuring a good flow of communication between us all and by spending time together when possible.

I look forward to meeting and getting to know all of you in the near future. In the interim, please feel free to contact me via the company office if the need should arise, or if you have any questions about the company, your Marine, or anything you think we may be able to help with. My door is always open.

Semper Fidelis,

Capt Matt W. Hohl

Captain Matt Hohl & 1StSgt Marcus Fleming

Delta Company

Families and friends of Company D,

With TASK FORCE GATOR deployed to Afghanistan in support of Operation Enduring Freedom, the Marines of Delta MAIN have worked tirelessly to support their deploying brothers. During this time Delta MAIN has had ample time to plan and coordinate for the Company's way ahead. This way ahead will encompass focusing on the core elements of our MOS.

Specifically, terrain driving, amphibious operations, also known as, "splashing", AAV gunnery and our basic Marine training.

This renewed focus on AAV and basic Marine core competencies will allow us to reenforce skill-sets that have waned throughout the years as Marines have concentrated on non-traditional skills throughout the years in response to the wide spectrum of missions we have assumed during deployments throughout the years.

As a reprieve from the desert heat and continuous wrench turning, D Company recently enjoyed a "Lunch on the Ramp" in which the Marines were able to sample grilled sausages from around the world complemented by various dishes made locally from the spouses of Big D. The Marines of Big "D" send their thanks for all the softball games, barbeques, pot-lucks etc; that you have supported in the form of smiles, expanding waist lines, and lunch comas.

Semper Fidelis,
Maj Dominijanni

Echo Company

Hello Echo Company Families!

Company E continues to reintegrate into the Battalion with a focus on maintenance and basic “amtrack” skills. We are happy to be back to our amphibious roots and look forward to continuing to rebuild the company and get our feet wet again. We have a new Family Readiness Assistant: Mrs. Melonie Mangum. She is motivated and ready to assist our families at any time. She and I will be working closely to ensure we have many family events planned.

Task Force Gator

To the Friends and Families of Task Force Gator,

On behalf of the Marines and Sailors of Task Force Gator, we would like to take this opportunity to personally welcome you to the "YAT YAS Brotherhood." While leading your Marines and Sailors, I continue to be amazed by their enthusiasm, dedication, and willingness to sacrifice for one another.

Since Task Force Gator's arrival to Camp Leatherneck, Afghanistan, the Marines and Sailors have performed magnificently and upheld the high standards expected of them. We have hit the ground running and for us that have been here for awhile, it is you back home that make our job worthwhile. So let me start with saying thank you for your support and prayers. Our focus remains keen in getting familiar with our area of operation (AO) and partnering nations that support us in our endeavors.

Our Family Readiness Assistants, Heather, Melissa and Amy are instrumental in the success of Task Force Gator and their families; as the conduit of information, they have worked tirelessly to ensure timely and accurate updates are disseminated to the families. We could not have asked for a more dedicated team to assist in keeping the deployment blues at bay. Thank you for your patience, continued support, and understanding.

Major Paul M. Rivera
OOH RAH Marines,

Single Marine Program (SMP)

For years, Marines of all ranks and ages have flocked to their local SMP's to partake in the trips and events they have to offer. The Single Marine Program (SMP) was created to give them a whole new source of experiences and memories they wouldn't have known otherwise. The SMP was established in 1995 after a quality of life survey was conducted and found that most Marines were dissatisfied with their off duty programs. Its purpose is to expand and enhance the quality of life, promote Marines chances for volunteer opportunities, and set up, organize, and carry events and trips for single Marines to participate in. As it is my duty and honored pleasure to assist in these tasks, I am always looking to do more. We are always expanding our horizon to new things as should you. I am looking forward to seeing you soon and will be always available for questions and concerns.

SEMPER FIDELIS,
Cpl Langston

Family Readiness Officer

Hello Gator Family and Friends!

Donna, your FRO, here and I want to take a minute to thank each of you for the amazing welcome into the battalion and all of your participation in our many, super cool events like the Beach Bash and Trunk-or-Treat. You guys are AWESOME! As usual I am SUPER EXCITED about every event the Companies have going on here in our amazing battalion. From fun runs with the families to company picnics to meet and greets, this Battalion is very social and definitely likes to get together with their fellow Trackers and their families.

The Holidays are here; although, I can't believe they are here already! Even with the Holidays, we have an incredibly busy Operational Tempo that I know has been rough on everyone. I know the Battalion Commander appreciates your sacrifice and the continued love and support that each of you give your Marine or Sailor as they bust their tails to accomplish our very important mission.

I have been incredibly fortunate to have gained personnel in my little neck of the woods to help facilitate more timely and focused communication between myself and each of you. With only one of me and over 2,000 Marines, Sailors and Family members it is imperative that I am able to give each of you the individual attention that your situation requires...along with still being able to accomplish the day to day and long range missions. GySgt Zaniewski is currently being trained to be the Deputy FRO and is also currently the WebMaster for our Battalion. He is going to be a huge asset and you can expect to see some great changes on our eMarine page and Battalion web page.

Cpl Aulinbrockus is still my administrative assistant and has proven to be invaluable "muscle" in getting all of our change of commands, homecomings, departures, deactivations...you name it accomplished....he is my "go-to" guy.

The Family Readiness Assistants have really been actively engaged in our events as well. This is a fine group of ladies that have the initiative, drive and self-reliance to be able to balance the day to day grind of work, school and kids along with volunteering their spare time to assist all of our families with any problems that arise.

We are always looking for volunteers to come out and help at individual events, or if you would like to become a formally trained Family Readiness Assistant, contact me and we can get you started with the process.

Again, I want to thank each of you for your continued support and participation in all of our Battalion events. Keep communicating with each other and myself and let's continue to branch out our net of support to all of our family members, near and far, so that no one in our large Battalion family ever feels alone or out of the loop.

Semper Fidelis and God Bless,

Donna N. Anderson
